

This past weekend's race was postponed to Sunday due to Saturday's partly predicted unsettled weather. Sunday saw light and (fairly) steady winds and a fleet of four boats. The start was delayed by 15 minutes due to the tardiness of the Lobb boat and the generosity of the other patient sailors and volunteers. Ted and Stephanie Hogg were easily first across the start line but gave up that position to John and Laura before the first mark. The Hoggs held first place for the remainder of the race, while the Johnsons remained in second and the Lobb boat third. The Houlden boat sailed a distant but steady fourth. The course was shortened to five legs from a usual/possible seven due to the big spread that developed between first and fourth place. Congrats to all sailors, particularly to Anna Cass who participated in her first sailing race ever in the Lobb boat.

A big thanks is due to all volunteers, including Sharon and Marta Morgan in crashboat, Greg Crawford Club Photographer, Dean MacMurtry course supervisor, Sue Tovee and Rachael Cass, Race Committee, and John Hogg, course setter. It should be mentioned that the decision to postpone the race was a team effort with advise from Warren, Ted and John Hogg.

Our Club Photographer, Greg, is including a file of race photos from last year and this year for our enjoyment. Please check them out at:

<https://www.icloud.com/sharedalbum/#BONGgZLKuJImJKO>

Weather for this Saturday's race looks to be clear with some wind and lots of heat. Wear your sunscreen!

See you on the water!

Sue Tovee
Commodore, 2020